Mr. Marceca.	I had what I believed was a master access list.
Rep. Flanagan.	How often is that list updated? Would an old list be destroyed or replaced by a new list?
Mr. Marceca.	I believe I worked on that list until I discovered, and it was not a sudden discovery but somewhere after a couple of months -- well, it is being pointed out it was always the same list. When I discovered that there were problems with that list, I then changed my approach to updating.[128]

e. Mr. Marceca's September 11, 1999 Immunized Admissions Regarding the Requests for Background Reports.

In light of Mr. Marceca's claim before the Senate Judiciary Committee of his Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination, the Independent Counsel granted him immunity, and, on September 11, 1999, Mr. Marceca was questioned in a sworn deposition about statements he made in his June 18, 1996 House staff deposition and in the House Committee hearing regarding the requests for background reports. Mr. Marceca responded to specific questions regarding the accuracy of his responses to questioning in the grand jury on June 11, 1996, in the staff deposition of the House Committee on Government Reform and Oversight, and in the House Committee hearing by Representatives Peterson and Flanagan.
