Yeah, Kelly sure was right!!!! I was totally distracted. I'm sure you remember I talked to the creep on the phone at work and I was supposed to go there and everything got crazy. I am glad you've had a good time with her but i certainly understand you and Chris wanting some time alone (like to have loud, rad SEX) before you leave!!!!

I'll talk to you about the Marsha stuff on the phone it is too exhausting for me to write it all. I'm drained right now. I can't wait to talk to you on the phone!!! I love to hear your voice...ahhh I sound like such a musher!!!!

Well, Catherine, my dear, (jeez..i hate being called "dear". the creep calls me that sometimes it's an old person saying!!!!) i don't have much to write -- i am boring. But did i tell you i had sex with thomas last week? I know. I am soooooo naughty. it was fun and good. i went over there with some ice cream and pretty much seduced him in a way that made him make the moves on me..cool or what???

I LUV YOU!!! Monica

I thought I would get rid of that Re:blind date message once and for all. If you like him and want to see him again call him. Unfortunately, sometimes that must be done. I know it sucks and you wish it not have to be that way but that's life. We have to put ourselves out there sometimes and maybe be cut-off and maybe be let-in, you never know. =20 You can tell me about bad MARsha or work what-nots, Monica. I am not frustrated, neccessarily, but concerned and wishing things would change- or you would change them. =20 It has been fun with Kelly but I am ready for her to leave- I'm burnt on the entertaining thing. Also, I leave on Friday, the day after her, and I want to be alone with Chris. I think he feels the same way, but won't say it in so many words. I'm not trying to be mean, its not so much personal against her....The other day we were talking about her going to Phillie and all and I asked if she thought she would contact and see you. She said she would like to and probably would. Then she said she had a good time with you in DC but you seemed distracted some rad that she thought you were a 'very private person'. I thought it was astute, but I just agreed and said you could be. Anyway.... Off to work! Write back before I go, 'kay? Love, Cat
