

- The President ended up eating dinner with Kevin O'Keith, Bruce Lindsey and Dick Kelley, in the residence Solarium.

- The President hosted 32 friends at the WH movie theatre to view a new movie: "Executive Decision," starring Steven Segal, Kurt Russell and Halle Berry. (His other choice was Primal Fear, with Richard Gere.)

The President was in a wonderful mood as host to long-friends - mostly from Arkansas. Popcorn, beer and soft drinks was on the menu. The movie was light, with just enough action to keep the audience awake. The President got up during the movie a few times - two times to briefly leave the theatre and once or twice to check to see whether there was popcorn and drinks still there.

DayNotes: Mr. Dick Kelley, the President's step-father, spent the night at the residence.
