

REDACTED

Today...

- The President had asked for a 7 a.m. wake-up call, but called the operator this morning to tell them 'never mind', he was already up - at 6:40 a.m.
- The President and Mrs. Clinton left for the opening ceremonies of the Olympics in Atlanta shortly after 8 a.m., this morning. He greeted seven friends in the diplomatic room, as they left - Beth Coulter, her husband, her sister and her two children; an Arkansas Judge and his wife, Kay Arnold.

It was raining, so the President's friends were a little damp from the helicopter fan. Mrs. Clinton was beautiful in her pale pink suit and matching suede shoes - that were pretty much soaked by the
